TableTalk

Phone orders, answered and sent to the kitchen tablet.

For pizzerias like Sabatino's in Melbourne. It picks up mid-service, reads the order back and puts the ticket in front of your cooks.

What happens on a call

01

Picks up on the first ring

Even at 7:30 on a Friday with your hands in the dough. The caller doesn't get voicemail and doesn't give up and ring the place down the road.

02

Takes the order off your menu

It works off your menu, so it knows a small Hawaiian from a large one. Mike wanted extra cheese on two and no pineapple on four. It got all of it and read it back.

03

The ticket is on the tablet before the caller hangs up

The caller's name and number, what they ordered and when it's due. Tap Ready when it's boxed, Collected when they've got it.

From two recorded calls at Sabatino's

82 s

Mike's whole call, hello to goodbye

12

items in Mike's order, all read back before he gave his name

65 min

the wait it quoted Mike

35 min

the wait it quoted Jared for six items

2 recorded calls, made during testing. Listen to both at talktableai.com.

Ring it yourself.

On a 15-minute call we put your menu on a test number and you ring it from your own shop.
